

Houses make way for fast food store

Demolition of houses in Ocean Beach Rd, Umina, has been completed in preparation for the construction of a fast food store.

The work follows consent granted by Gosford Council in November.

Construction of the new McDonald's outlet is expected to begin in February and the store is expected to be operational mid-year.

"Whilst the development was the focus of much debate, the Chamber is of the view that national operators such as McDonald's will bring substantial benefits to the Umina Beach retail centre including the creation of over 100 part time and casual jobs for young people and the injection of over $1 million in wages into the local economy," said Peninsula Chamber of Commerce president Mr Matthew Wales.

"With over 35 per cent youth unemployment, these jobs are vitally important for our local young people.

"The construction process will also see over $3 million worth of capital investment with Central Coast firms gaining contracts during the build program.

"It is important to note that over the last few years nearly 350 local jobs have been created with the upgrading of the Coles Supermarket, the construction of the new Woolworths, the completion of the Aldi Supermarket, the looming opening of Bunnings on the corner of South St and McDonalds.

"These anchor businesses create foot traffic, attract shoppers and create opportunities for small retailers to feed off the growing popularity of the Umina Beach retail centre," said Mr Wales.

Crime drops in past year

The incidence of crime on the Peninsula has fallen over the last year, the Peninsula Chamber of Commerce has been told.

Police Superintendent Danny Sullivan spoke of local crime statistics at a chamber meeting late last year.

Chamber president Mr Matthew Wales said: "In a refreshing exchange of views, the superintendent has said that crime statistics across the board have been lower over the last 12 months and that he is very pleased with his policing numbers.

"Like the Chamber, he has acknowledged that the CCTV cameras in our town centres have made a big difference in reducing anti-social behaviour and graffiti and boosted security.

"He has also given a firm commitment to greater interaction between his office and the local business community so we are looking forward to seeing more of Superintendent Sullivan and his officers in the New Year," said Mr Wales.

Chamber funds Woy Woy welcome

The Peninsula Chamber of Commerce's subcommittee for the Woy Woy town centre is developing a project to kick start its town improvements with a Welcome to Woy Woy sign.

The concept is for a low curved sand stone wall at the first entry point.

The sand stone is to be sourced from the Gosford Quarry with brass lettering noting the first settlement in 1823.

The Chamber will hold several dinner functions to raise funds and continue discussions with Gosford Council.

"The same Welcome Sign project has been a success in Ettalong Beach with four signs being funded solely by the Peninsula Chamber of Commerce," said Chamber president Mr Matthew Wales.

"Hopefully the Council will support improvements to our town centres through design and funding sources.

"This is one of many Woy Woy initiatives being undertaken by the sub-committee," said Mr Wales.

Chamber opposes name change idea

Peninsula Chamber of Commerce is opposing moves to change the name of Brisbane Water.

"There has been a lot of debate in recent days regarding the name Brisbane Water and whether it should be renamed so as to be more identifiable with Gosford," said Chamber president Mr Matthew Wales.

"The fact remains that the name is part of our history and is synonymous with the growth and development of all the townships and villages in the Brisbane Water catchment.

"The Chamber is of the view that the name Brisbane Water is part of our cultural heritage and links all the fringing communities under a common banner.

"At a time when there are much more pressing issues facing our community, it would seem that such debates deflect Council's energy away from its core responsibilities - roads, drainage, footpaths and community services.

"The Chamber will be encouraging Council to leave Brisbane Water alone and get on with the real job of running the city," said Mr Wales.

The name change was proposed by mayor Cr Lawrie McKinna late last year.

Ettalong foreshore to be protected

Protection works on Ettalong foreshore will begin after the Christmas School Holidays following nearly three years of studies, designs and community consultations by Gosford Council.

Peninsula Chamber of Commerce president Mr Matthew Wales said the Chamber was successful in 2010 in lobbying Member for Robertson Ms Deborah O'Neill for funding for the Ettalong foreshore protection works.

Two million dollars in Federal Grant money was secured for the project through the Community Infrastructure Grant Program.

The grant funding is required to be spent by June 2014.

The Federal Grant has enabled the detailed design and construction of the seawall and cycleway - footpath in the Ferry Park precinct between Lemon Grove Outlet and Beach St Outlet.

The Ettalong Foreshore Plan of Management identified an area at the northern end of Ferry Park of approximately 1150m2 for reclamation and a 40m extension of the stormwater outlet including a gross pollutant trap.

The tender process for construction has commenced and Council has advised that works for the foreshore revetment and cycleway - footpath is expected to take six months to complete.

"In the meantime, the Council is undertaking further investigations for the beach renourishment along Lance Webb Reserve which, as we all know, is in desperate need of repair and upgrading," said Mr Wales.

"Not a good look for visitors and residents alike."

Detectives seek missing man

Brisbane Water detectives have renewed their appeal for information in their search for a missing man who was last seen in Umina.

Neil Hinkley, aged 55, has not been seen since about 10:45am on Wednesday, December 19, at a property on Oscar Rd, Umina.

Attempts to contact Mr Hinkley have been unsuccessful, and concerns are held for his welfare.

Police were told Mr Hinkley had family in the Hunter and South Coast regions and may have travelled to those locations.

Mr Hinkley is caucasian in appearance with a medium build, brown hair and blue-grey eyes.

He was last seen wearing beige shorts, a Hawaiian style shirt, white shoes and socks.

Anyone with information about the circumstances leading up to Mr Hinkley's disappearance, or who may have seen him, should contact Brisbane Water Detectives on 4323 5599 or Crime Stoppers on 1800 333 000.

Dinghys on the Hardys Bay shoreline

Dinghy racks for Hardys Bay

Gosford Council will install dinghy racks and rails at Hardys Bay after it received a grant from NSW Roads and Maritime Services.

A rack will be installed on the reserve at the end of Stanley St and rails will be installed near the public wharf on Araluen Drive.

Surrounding residents will be provided with information via a letterbox drop.

"Further consultation has been undertaken with the Hardy's Bay Residents Group, which was acting on behalf of the residents," said Gosford Council's coordinator parks, playgrounds and foreshores Ms Kim Radford.

Hardys Bay Residents Group Bay News editor Mr Allan Wilson said Hardys Bay residents were experiencing mixed feelings about the plans.

"It was generally considered that dinghies on the shore line had always added to the ambience of the area," said Mr Wilson.

Park plans to community's detriment

We have owned a cabin at the Ettalong Beach Holiday Village home park since 2006.

We attempted to sell our cabin over a year ago, only to learn the operators had placed an embargo on issuing any new occupation certificates.

This blocked our sale.

The operators apparently had no regard for occupiers' interests.

Their conduct was appalling and disgraceful.

We have heard from other home owners in the park who have shared the same experience.

The operators had grand plans to reconfigure the park, doing away with the holiday cabins to install permanent resident properties.

Forum

The plans included acquisition of leases for the vacant block of adjacent land which mysteriously burnt down plus demolition of the remaining community property.

This would be to the complete detriment of current owners plus the community who would no longer have access to the facilities.

Their motivation was profit rather than community or owners' interests.

The standard of the park's amenities have deteriorated since their management commenced.

Will the new operators be any different?

In regard to Lawrie McKinna's attempt to change the name of Brisbane Water, the mayor's comments were all about The Landing.

Everything else is just camouflage.

Mayor Cr McKinna has obviously spent too much time in the Mariners' boardroom and is yet to connect to the Gosford LGA.

Corporatisation of sport has transformed recreational activities into outright business investment opportunities with business plans to match.

Sporting organisations such as the Mariners are now equally rated on business administration and on-field results.

Corporatisation attracts advertising and sponsorship.

The stadium at Gosford now has a name change with every new sponsorship deal and is now recognised as Bluetongue Stadium and not Grahame Park – with the corporatisation of the LGA.

Sponsorship is more important to the Mariners than connecting to the local area.

This is the councillor's business training and he has transferred this model into his decisions.

The name change is all about satisfying developers and potential investors, nothing about connecting to the local area and its heritage.

With the councillor's off-field training, it is certain that any renaming will not have an Aboriginal affiliation but will follow the history of Bluetongue Stadium and have advertising rights, subject to negotiation.

At the moment, Lend Lease Cove is a front runner with Regional Development Corporation Quay a close second.

The community members of the Council's former environmental heritage advisory committee would consider this action standard practice from Gosford Council.

Any map that shows Brisbane Water as a marine feature or estuary in Brisbane is a scam; beware and contact Fair Trading.

A geography lesson for the mayor is urgently required.

Should we laugh or cry?

Reading the local press lately reminds me of Montaigne's saying, that if an optimist looks at the actions of man he laughs and if a pessimist looks at the actions of man, he cries.

I certainly don't know whether to laugh or cry.

The front page of the last Peninsula News tells us that a sea barrier is called for.

The Woolwich Barrier, built in the early 80s, cost hundreds of millions of pounds and it was to protect London, the capital city of the UK.

It was out of date within 25 years and needed to be heightened.

Just which government here is likely to cough up hundreds of millions of dollars in order to protect the Peninsula?

What would the people of Hardys Bay and Ettalong think of living next to what looks like an industrial site?

Sea walls have been built in many places around the world.

We have seen them on the east coast of Britain and on the east coast of the USA.

Forum

These walls simply moved the problem further along the coast, which resulted in many houses being lost to the seas.

We can see a similar effect on the Peninsula.

The Council changed the point at the boat ramp with rocks, in the mid-70s, which changed the currents and so the wide beach where my children learned to swim, next to the Vietnamese Memorial, has disappeared almost completely.

At Kingscliff in northern NSW, a caravan park and a surf club are in danger of being lost, despite enormous rocks and sandbags being strategically placed, as well as large earthmovers pushing the sand in, to form an artificial dune.

If we move further up the estuary we come to the site of Gosford Landing, the new city of Gosford, to be built right beside or even on the water.

The State Government, the local Council and the Regional Development Corporation are determined that it will go ahead regardless of what people think. They want business as usual. So, do these two groups of people live on different planets? Should we laugh or cry? Isn't it time for us to look at the facts?

Climate change is here whether we like it or not.

It is not a religion or a fashion which we can acknowledge or ignore.

Climate scientists wish that it were.

They do not like what the evidence is telling them.

The State Government may have removed the information from the S149 certificates but our insurance premiums do not reflect this.

The insurance industry is one part of our business community which is facing up to the truth.

It is time surely for us all to check the facts and then deal with the problem seriously and in earnest and to demand that our governments do likewise.

Cockles threatened

Forum

I don't know whether the story about Asians eating wild mallard ducks is true or false, but it is well documented and witnessed that parties of Asians decimated the cockle population of Brisbane Water about 10 years back.

During the 19th century, lime-burners just about wiped out the cockle population. However, in the 20th century, they started to make a comeback. Then came another wave of predators: Poor old cockles.

Complying use?

I will not accept that there can be 24 chairs around six tables in the 13 square meters identified on the license displayed in a shopfront on Picnic Pde, Ettalong.

I expect compliance officers to be diligent in the pursuit of ratepayers' revenue.

What is really sad about this story is that the so-called reporters are most complacent in the hiding of the truth from News Limited's trusting readers.

Family day at community garden

The shed that will be painted

The Woy Woy Peninsula Community Garden will hold a family fun day at the garden located in Moana St, Woy Woy, on Thursday, January 17, from 9:30am.

Children of all ages are invited to attend and help paint a mural on the organisation's shed.

Garden coordinator Ms Jill Meredith said local artist Kim Ryder had created a paint by number mural that echoed the garden theme of fun, sustainability and home grown produce.

The free activity has been funded through a community grant from Gosford Council.

Children must be accompanied by an adult and attendees are asked to bring picnic food, water, a hat and wear old clothes suitable for painting.

With further enquiries, contact Jill on 4344 2704.

Year 9 has graduation assembly

The Brisbane Water Secondary College Year 9 graduation assembly was held on Thursday, December 13, with students, their families, friends and teachers celebrating their achievements. Students were presented on stage with their yearly report and certificate with a shake of the principal's hand.

"This occasion was especially significant because campus principal Mr Gasper was retiring at the end of the year," said head teacher Ms Sheree Gilchrist.

"Certificates are graded (Gold, Silver, Bronze and Attainment) and are based on our Core School Values of respect, commitment and relationships.

"The Graduation Program has been developing since its introduction in 2010.

"This year, students were issued with a PB Booklet aimed at encouraging students to achieve their personal best by self-monitoring their progress each term.

"With the support of their team leader and parents, students evaluated their adherence to the Core School Values and made changes when needed.

"Regular class meetings and individual conferences with the deputy and team leaders were held.

"The gymnasium was overflowing and some parents were required to listen to the ceremony from outside.

"Students were respectful and smartly attired in their school uniform.

"The assembly included a fantastic presentation of photos of students since they started in Year 7.

"The captains' speeches were sincere, thought-provoking and eloquent.

"It is hard to believe they are only 15 years of age.

"Students were presented with a beautiful graduation cake that was later enjoyed as part of morning tea on the front lawn, along with parents and teachers.

"Despite the enormous preparation required to put on a formal ceremony like this, it makes it all worth-while when I witnessed students thanking their teachers and laughing as they reminisced about the year that was.

"Hugs and tears all round as students made their way off Umina campus for the very last time," said Ms Gilchrist.

Chris Masters to talk in Umina

Veteran investigative journalist Chris Masters will visit Umina on January 24 to talk about his new book Uncommon Soldier.

The talk will be held at the Gospel Garden Ministry at 207 West St, from 7pm.

Talk organiser Ms Mandi McIntosh said that, in his new book, Chris Masters turned his gaze on the modern Australian soldier.

"Moving away from our ongoing fascination with the Anzac story, he looks at the rich and illuminating present to write a character study of the modern Australian soldier - war fighter, peacekeeper, street-level diplomat and aid worker.

"Having been taken into their ranks in a way rarely before afforded an outsider, Masters gives heart and shape to the contemporary digger: how they are selected, how they are led, and how they are transformed from civilians to disciplined professional soldiers."

Chris Masters is Australia's best-known investigative reporter.

Ms McIntosh, who operates Book Bazaar in Umina, provided the following biography of Chris Masters:

Chris Masters worked at Australia's longest running public affairs television program, Four Corners between 1983 and 2010.

He made over 100 reports for the national broadcaster's flagship program, many of them well remembered and some of them nation shaping.

The Big League in 1983 triggered the Street Royal Commission and reforms to judicial accountability.

French Connections in 1985, an international exclusive on the sinking of the Greenpeace flagship The Rainbow Warrior earned Chris the highest award in Australian journalism, the Gold Walkley.

His most famous report The Moonlight State investigating police corruption in Queensland initiated the Fitzgerald Inquiry and a raft of reforms that reached beyond Queensland.

The Dead Heart received a 1987 Penguin award from the television Society of Australia.

Other reports such as Inside a Holocaust on genocide in Rwanda in 1994 won a Logie award and The Coward's War on the Bosnian conflict, a further Walkley.

Chris has written four books.

The first was Inside Story (1991) followed by Not for Publication (2002) and Jonestown (2006), the latter winning three awards, including Biography of the Year.

Chris is from a well-known media family, his mother Olga (1919-1986), a lifelong journalist and successful author.

In 1999, Chris was awarded a public service medal for his anti-corruption work. In 2005 he received an honorary doctorate in communication from RMIT University.

A further honorary doctorate was awarded in 2009 by the University of Queensland where Chris is an adjunct professor.

He has written for a range of major newspapers and journals.

Mission Drift, for The Monthly, on the Afghanistan conflict was reprinted in Melbourne University Press'Best Political Writing 2008.

Moonlight Reflections, an account of corruption in the Bjelke-Petersen government for Griffith Review, was included in Best Political Writing 2009.

Chris also teaches investigative journalism and film writing and is a regular public speaker, having delivered among others, the AN Smith lecture and the Curtin address.

In 2006 he received the Voltaire award from Free Speech Victoria.

In 2010 he delivered the Manning Clark address. Chris Masters is a national director of Redkite, which provides support to families of children and young people with cancer.

His documentary journalism is featured in an exhibition, Screen Worlds at the Australian Centre for the Moving Image in Federation Square Melbourne www.acmi.net.au/screen_worlds.aspx

In 2010, he completed a two part series on the Afghanistan conflict A Careful War, which was broadcast on Four Corners in July.

An account of the program and the mission was delivered at The Lowy Institute. Watch video here.

Tour of Duty, broadcast by Network Ten in 2011, was an up close account of the operations of Australian Special Forces in Afghanistan.

In 2012, Chris chaired the non-fiction and history categories of the Prime Minister's Literary Awards.

He is the author and presenter of a three part history documentary series The Years That Made Us, due for broadcast by ABC television in 2013.

Tickets for Chris Masters' talk will cost $10. For bookings, phone 4342 2482.

Musicians win regional awards

Two musicians from the Peninsula have won in regional music awards held at Gosford Council's Hub youth entertainment venue at Erina on Friday, December 14.

Alyxanthe Hull of Ettalong won a Music and Mentoring Master Class while Savillian (Matt Savelberg) of Woy Woy was awarded a guest performance on the Musicians Making a Difference Stage at the 2013 Big Day Out.

Kelly Griffith of Terrigal took out the top prize and received the Singer-Songwriter prize.

Her song Born to Die was also awarded ninth place in the Youth Category of this year's National Songwriting Awards.

Hub youth centre coordinator Mr Steve Knee said that this year's competition "Discovered" was one of the biggest yet with strong participation from both entrants and audiences.

"We were blown away by the number of talented entrants this year, proving once again the number of talented young musicians we have living on the Central Coast.

"Competition was fierce and the judges certainly had their work cut out for them selecting a winner.

"The continued success of the competition would not be possible without the support of the public who come to cheer on our local talent and the sponsors who work so hard to make Discovered the great competition that it is.

"Discovered has continued to go from strength to strength and we are looking forward to an even bigger and better competition in 2013," said Mr Knee.

Discovered offered young aspiring singer-songwriters and talented vocalists between the ages of 12 and 25 years the opportunity to share in $10,000 in prizes to help kick start their career.

Local shoppers and businesses contributed 2357 Christmas presents for distribution to families in need in a pre-Christmas appeal in Woy Woy.

The gifts were distributed through the Salvation Army.

They were collected in a "wishing tree" appeal at Kmart.

Kmart managing director Mr Guy Russo thanked the local community for its support.

"We've witnessed incredible generosity from businesses who have taken it upon themselves to donate gifts to the appeal, and individuals who have made it part of their Christmas tradition to donate."

New coach at tennis club

Woy Woy Tennis Club has appointed a new coach for 2013.

She is Louise Andrews, who will run a professional tennis coaching business from the courts adjacent to Austin Butler oval in Woy Woy.

Ms Andrews said her business, LA Tennis, had a holistic approach to tennis coaching.

"Our passion is for grassroots player development," she said.

She said LA Tennis could assess player requirements and develop a specialised program to help achieve player goals for all ages or abilities.

"Everyone learns differently and we make it our business to be aware of this.

"All staff are qualified, experienced and insured with Tennis Australia, also current Working with Children checks and Senior First Aid and CPR certified.

"We embrace other professionals to advise and assist where necessary, we have a network of personal trainers, dieticians, sports psychologists, podiatrists, massage therapists and sports physicians available to help our players whether beginner or elite."

Ms Andrews started at the centre on January 1.

She will run a holiday tennis clinic for children from 10am to 3pm on January 23, 24 and 25.

Online submission, 1 Jan 2013

Bronze medallions

Twenty-two people successfully completed their Bronze Medallion at Umina Surf Club in December.

Each of the graduates had to attain competencies in first aid as well as knowledge of basic patrolling and surf awareness in order to be able to participate in lifesaving operations.

Umina Surf Club conducts two Bronze Medallion courses each year with the next course beginning later this month.

The Under-16 Boys winning side with coach Ray Kapua and manager Julie Player

Under-16s defeat Berkeley Vale

A Peninsula Under-16 Boys' team has defeated Berkeley Vale in the grand final of the Central Coast Junior Touch Championships at Bateau Bay on Sunday, December 16.

The Peninsula Junior Touch Club has participated in the competition for seven years and this year nine teams competed.

Peninsula coordinator Ms Maxine South said the Peninsula had "greatly improved" its ranking this year.

"Teams from Sydney, Newcastle and the Upper Hunter region were also present this year which made the weekend very competitive," said Ms South.

"We had both boys' and girls' teams from Under-10s to Under-18s play which was excellent match practice leading up to the Peter Wilson Memorial Championships (Regionals) in Nelson Bay and Junior State Cup which will take place in Port Macquarie in February.

"All teams performed well under the hot conditions with two reaching the semi-finals.

"Overall it was a very successful weekend for all players, coaches and parents," said Ms South.
