Council budgets $26 million for Peninsula projects

Just on $26 million has been budgeted by Central Coast Council for projects on the Peninsula over the next year.

Of 54 projects totalling $25,957,202, more than $6.67 million of them are dependant on external funding yet to be approved.

The most costly project is the $5.7 million Woy Woy wharf stage two construction.

The $5 million Umina skate park project was approved "pending external grant".

The next most expensive project is the $4.29 million replacement of the heating, ventilation and air-conditioning system at the Peninsula Leisure Centre.

A further $110,000 will be spent on "rolling facility improvements and equipment replacement" at the leisure centre.

A $1.35 million Rogers Park amenities building upgrade was also approved.

Just eight projects account for almost $19 million. Another eight projects account for a further three million dollars, with the remaining 38 projects totalling just four million dollars.

The budget was approved as part of the Council's Operational Plan at the council's July 27 meeting.

An upgrade of the Umina oval (Etta Rd) sportsground amenities building will cost $900,000 "pending external grant".

A further $200,000 was allocated to the investigation and design of an upgrade to the "Umina Oval (Melbourne Ave) sportsground amenities building".

An amount of $200,000 was also approved for the upgrade of the Umina Tennis Clubhouse, also at Umina oval.

Another $10,000 will be spent on irrigation upgrades at Umina oval.

An allocation of $650,000 has been made to Stage Three of the Everglades catchment drainage upgrade.

An upgrade to the Ocean Beach Holiday Park access road and associated car parking will cost $570,000.

The intersection of Ocean Beach Rd and Rawson Rd, Woy Woy, will be upgraded at a cost of $500,000.

Gem Rd, in Pearl Beach, will be upgraded and associated drainage and pavement works will undertaken at a cost of $420,000.

An amount of $405,000 has been budgeted for a stormwater improvement at Woy Woy tip.

A similar amount has been allocated ("pending external grant") for Stage One work on the Hobart Ave and Melbourne Ave intersection project, including kerb, footpath and pedestrian crossing.

Bays meeting fills all committee positions

A special general meeting held by The Bays Community Group has resulted in all positions on the committee being filled for the first time in a number of years.

Ms Gwynneth Weir is new president of the group.

The meeting was scheduled after the group's annual meeting on June 24 failed to elect a president, vice-president or secretary.

Ms Weir said the special meeting had "a great turnout of residents".

"This has resulted in an exciting cross-section of committee members – young people, the young-at-heart, those new to The Bays, long-time residents and an amazing collection of skills and experience," she said.

"Having a full complement will bring many benefits, not least with respect to the sharing of the workload.

"It is always good to have new members, bringing new ideas as well as strengths and skills that will be invaluable going forward, alongside those that have been involved before.

"I am already hearing exciting new ideas for future Bays events.

"It would be great if we were able open up the hall more frequently, offering more opportunities for residents to come together and enjoy each other's company.

Gwynneth Weir

"Some events might appeal more to our younger residents, some to our more mature residents and hopefully lots of events that all ages might enjoy."

Ms Weir said she felt honoured to be elected president.

"Following on from our last two presidents, Cathy Gleeson and Bob Puffett, I know I have big shoes to fill.

"What a great job they have done for The Bays for so many years.

"We all appreciate the many hours they have put in and look forward to seeing them at future events while they sit back and relax," she said.

Peninsula contribution plans now on council website

The Peninsula's seven developer contribution plans are now displayed on Central Coast Council's website, following an audit of the council by the NSW Auditor-General.

However, the Peninsula's seven plans are likely to be superseded when the Council's 54 developer contribution plans will be joined in a new consolidated contributions plan expected to be ready around the middle of next year, according to the audit report.

Councils collect local infrastructure contributions from developers to fund infrastructure required to service and support new development, according to the Auditor-General's report.

The audit found the council was in breach of developer contribution plan provisions of the Environmental Planning and Assessment Act as recently as last year.

"Central Coast Council breached the EP and AAct between 2001 and 2019 when it used local infrastructure contributions for administration costs," the audit concluded.

The audit found that the council used the contributions collected to pay for administration expenses under contributions plans.

"Administration expenses were paid using funds collected under 40 contributions plans inherited from Gosford City Council which had no allowance for administration.

"Following amalgamation in 2016, this practice continued until 2019 under Central Coast Council.

"The Council made an adjustment of $13.2 million in the 2018-19 financial statements to reimburse the contributions fund from the general council fund.

"This adjustment includes interest foregone since 2001.

"These funds were repaid in late 2019."

The council has agreed to an Auditor-General recommendation to "obtain independent validation of the adjustment made to the restricted asset accounts and general fund to repay contributions spent on administration, and adjustments made to each infrastructure category within the contribution plans".

The audit report said that developer contributions "can represent a significant source of council's annual revenue and cash balance".

In Central Coast Council's case, cash contributions amounted to 36 per cent of cash or cash-equivalent funds.

Central Coast Council chief executive Mr Gary Murphy wrote to the auditor in April accepting all the audit's recommendations but asked that the December deadline to be pushed back a year.

The Peninsula's contribution plans include three for car parking: plan 67 for Woy Woy, plan 68 for Umina and plan 72 for Ettalong.

The Peninsula's other four contribution plans are: plan 31A Drainage, plan 31B Roadworks, plan 31C Open Space and Recreation and plan 31D Community Facilities and Services.

Editorial policy

The newspaper's editorial policy reflects a desire to reinforce the Peninsula's sense of community.

To qualify for publication, articles must have specific relevance to the Peninsula. For example, they must be about activities or events happening on the Peninsula or be organised by or involving Peninsula people.

The newspaper is not regional or national in nature, so regional or national issues will not be canvassed except as they affect the Peninsula.

Regional sports will only be covered from the perspective of Peninsula clubs. Regional plans will only be aired in the context of their ramifications for the Peninsula.

Peninsula News aims to be inclusive of as much of the Peninsula community as possible.

Readability

To ensure that the newspaper serves its purpose, it must be readable and represent the interests and activities of the community in its content.

Contributions to the paper are edited to consistent standards of readability. Guidelines are available for intending contributors.

All items will be dated. They must contain the name of the author to whom the contribution may be attributed, with their first name spelt out, along with their suburb or organisation. Anonymous contributions will not be accepted.

Forum letters

The Forum section provides the opportunity for readers to express their views on any aspect of Peninsula community life, with the aim of reflecting the community's diversity of opinion.

Nevertheless, letters may be edited for readability, including for length, spelling and grammar, and to avoid legal liability on the part of the newspaper, or they may be declined altogether.

Contributors are asked to keep their contributions to the matter at hand, and to focus on the issues and not abuse or insult others.

Other than in the case of holding public figures to account, criticism of others (as opposed to criticism of particular opinions) is unlikely to be published in the interests of facilitating the expression of a diversity of views.

All letter writers need to supply name, address and contact details. Only name and suburb will be published.

Contributors who do not wish the wording of their letter to be changed at all should make a note to this effect when submitting their letter. In some cases, this may result in the letter not being published.

Source lines

Peninsula News includes "source lines" at the end of each article which aim to provide readers with information about where and how we came across the information, so that they might judge for themselves the veracity of what they are reading.

It should not be assumed that the article is a verbatim reproduction of the source. Similarly, it should not be assumed that any reporter listed is necessarily responsible for writing the whole news item. Source lines are not by-lines.

Often articles come from a number of sources. They are edited for readability and reader interest and given different headings, and consequently can be expressed quite differently from the source material.

Peninsula News usually receives its information in three ways: It is sent to us by someone wanting to promote their activities; it is sent to us in response to our inquiries; or it comes from a newsletter or other document to which we have access.

Sometimes we may interview a person or report what they said at a meeting.

The following descriptions are used:

Media Release - unsolicited contributions. Media Statement - sent in response to our questions. Website or Social Media - information published online. Newsletter or Report - published in print or online. Interview or Meeting - statements recorded by a reporter.

Forum contributions may be: Email if sent electronically and Letter if written on paper.

Lane between surf clubs to be primarily for pedestrians

A narrow lane which connects Umina Beach Surf Life Saving Club at Ocean Beach Rd with Ocean Beach Surf Life Saving Club at Trafalgar Ave will become primarily a pedestrian thoroughfare, with changes costing $327,528.

The lane, which is a continuation of The Esplanade, will become a shared zone with the installation of seating, signage and landscaping.

The shared zone was proposed by the Umina Community Group.

Mayor Cr Lisa Matthews said: "The Umina Beach community have been after improvements to this area for some time.

"In successfully securing this grant, Council is able to create a safer, more accessible zone to be enjoyed by the community."

Parliamentary Secretary for the Central Coast Mr Adam Crouch said Central Coast Council would receive $327,528 from the NSW Government's Streets as Shared Spaces program.

"The pandemic has prompted the NSW Government to invest in new and improved pedestrian and active transport links that facilitate social distancing," Mr Crouch said.

Woy Woy is graffiti hotspot, draft council strategy claims

A draft Council strategy on graffiti claims that Woy Woy is one of five graffiti hotspots on the Coast, responsible for 6.6 per cent of graffiti reports to police in the region.

However, the strategy does not disclose the rate per head of population, nor does it report the figures for the Peninsula as a whole.

It does not discuss whether a higher reporting rate is the result of a higher level of community concern about graffiti.

The draft Graffiti Management Strategy for Central Coast Council is open for public comment until September 13.

Five approaches are suggested for dealing with graffiti: Rapid response, working in partnership, reporting graffiti, providing art opportunities and prevention.

The draft strategy states that the Council is only responsible for removing graffiti from its own property, and not from private property.

However, it suggests a trial program to remove graffiti from commercial properties in principal town centres, including Woy Woy.

Council director Ms Julie Vaughan said that the strategy would replace plans of the former Gosford City and Wyong Shire.

"The draft strategy is based on evidence about what works, reflects best practices in graffiti management and is the result of input from a range of local stakeholders.

"Not only does it aim to create a sustainable, significant and measurable reduction in graffiti on the Central Coast, it also looks at ways to increase community awareness and understanding of the issue and provide residents with legitimate avenues to express themselves creatively."

Mayor Cr Lisa Matthews said that Council was committed to "working collaboratively with community partners" and developing programs that will make a difference in stamping out graffiti.

"Graffiti affects neighbourhood appearance, businesses and community confidence in the safety and security of public places," Mayor Matthews said.

"This strategy seeks to reduce the negative impacts of graffiti felt by the community and visitors and increase pride in local areas."

Adoption of Operational Plan and Budget during COVID-19

All Councils need to set their budget at the beginning of each financial year. As with many organisations, Council has also been impacted by COVID-19 and we have needed to consider what those impacts might mean.

Our CEO and staff were proactive in considering the impacts of the pandemic. Council engaged independent expertise to model different scenarios and provide advice in a time of great uncertainty.

Our staff developed a revised budget based on sound principles – living within our means, minimising job losses, maintaining essential services and stimulating the local economy. There were also workshops with Councillors to consider adjustments that needed to be made.

Budgets are always contested ground - with everybody wanting their own priorities to be in the document. There are numerous discussions about how we best apply funds across this large region in a fair and equitable way. There is inevitably lots of criticism and a level of frustration that is felt by everybody - our staff and our Councillors, all trying to deliver the best for our community with a finite amount of money.

The final version of the Budget and Operational Plan was adopted on 27 July. It is a realistic, responsible and responsive budget at this time of economic uncertainty. One of the strategies we will employ over the next year will be a review process to monitor income against our scenario planning. This will enable Council to respond to any changes more quickly and will include bringing projects forward when we can.

Some key points about this year's budget and Operational Plan:

- Council has budgeted $564.3 million for the delivery of essential services and $225 million for capital works across the region

- This is the largest capital works program that Council has budgeted to date and one of the largest in the state at $225m with a further $33m of projects awaiting grant funding confirmation
 - In considering the revised budget, we have deferred some works however, this will be reviewed each quarter to consider how we can amend the budget with changing circumstances
 - We are forecasting an operating deficit of $13.3 million excluding capital grants and contributions
- When considering the operating deficit, it is worth noting the cost shifting that puts an additional burden on Council. Cost shifting is where the State government puts additional demands on Council without the funding to deliver those functions.
- We have had to absorb the amalgamation costs of $40m with still more to come.
 - Like all Councils we absorb cost shifting costs which for us is in the order of $44m each year
 - We have a direct loss of revenue as a result of Local Infrastructure Contributions from developers being reduced from 4% to 1% by the state government. This means 1% goes to Council and 3% goes to the State government. This is several million dollars a year less income while our staff still have to do the same work.
 - The recent IPART determination has reduced our income by $35m per year - yet we are still required to maintain the same or greater levels of expenditure.

Commencement of work at Woy Woy Wharf

With Councillor Chris Holstein and Adam Crouch, Parliamentary Secretary for the Central Coast, to mark the commencement of construction of Woy Woy wharf

I was pleased to represent Mayor Lisa Matthews on 18 August at the commencement of works for the new Woy Woy wharf. This is a major wharf redevelopment project that will benefit Woy Woy and the Central Coast more broadly.

The new Woy Woy Town Centre wharf will become an iconic part of the local area. Its floating pontoon will ensure it is accessible in most tide and weather conditions. This is a great example of the State government and Council working together to fund and deliver infrastructure that our community wants and needs. The project is an investment of approximately $5.6 million including $3.99 million from the NSW Government's Regional Communities Development Fund and $1.33 million from Council.

It is expected that work will be completed by the end of the financial year. During construction, the commercial wharf will operate as the main wharf for ferry services.

Vietnam Veterans' Day commemorated

Vietnam Veterans' Day was commemorated on August 18 at the Ettalong Beach memorial to commemorate the battle of Long Tan in 1966.

Those attending included Ettalong Diggers chief executive Mr Bill Jackson, together with Vietnam veterans and members of the Vietnam Veterans' Peacekeepers and Peacemakers Association of Australia Central Coast sub-branch.

Sub-branch president Mr Allan Ball said that 2020 was the first year there had not been an official service organised to mark the battle since the inception of the sub-branch.

It was important veterans and the public supported low key remembrance ceremonies, during adverse conditions, to honor Australia's servicemen and women.

Body found in search for missing man

Attendance of councillors at Central Coast Council meetings will now be reported by Council staff as well as statistics on their requests for information.

Attendance at other meetings such as briefings and workshops, the weekly CEO updates and advisory group meetings of which they are members will also be

Council staff already report every six months on councillor expenses and use of facilities.

These extra statistics will now be added to this report which is tabled at a council meeting and published in full on council's website.

8.30am the day before.

When he did not return, police were notified.

His vehicle had been located in the car park of Mt Bouddi picnic area and following a land, air and sea search of the area, with helicopter assistance of PoAir, the body of a man was recovered on Thursday.

While the body is yet to be formally identified, it is believed to be that of the missing man.

Redevelopment of Umina Mall has been stalled over the sale of council road reserves.

Draft policy states principles for selling Council land

A draft Land Transaction Policy that would determine the principles applying to the sale of Council land is open for public comment until September 11.

The policy would apply where Central Coast Council sells road reserves.

This has occurred on the Peninsula with the sale of a road reserve to Umina aged care provider Peninsula Village.

It has also been requested for the development of Umina Mall shopping centre in Ocean Beach Rd.

It would also be the process ultimately followed if the Peninsula's pocket parks were to be sold, although a statement accompanying the draft is at pains to dissociate the policy from the prospect.

"The process to sell Council owned land is very complicated and is something that is only considered after many checks and balances have been undertaken.

"Firstly, only operational land can be sold, so community parks and facilities (community land) can't be sold unless the land can be reclassified.

"Any reclassification requires thorough community consultation as well as State Government approval – and Council would need to demonstrate that the reclassification would not reduce the community's access to open space or recreational land.

"All these decisions require resolution at Council's meeting, which requires the elected Councillor's support."

The draft policy states: "Land sales should normally occur through a competitive open market process (for instance: expressions of interest, auction, or private treaty undertaken by an estate agent).

"Exceptions may occur only in special circumstances, such as sales to adjoining landowners of small lots that are not developable as stand-alone lots or that have little use or commercial appeal to the wider market, or where a competitive process is not appropriate or practical in the circumstances.

"Any proposal to sell land other than by a competitive open market process must be authorised by a Council resolution.

"All land which Council proposes to acquire or sell requires thorough investigation through a due diligence process, ensuring a net tangible benefit to Council or the public.

"As a minimum, this process must include: preparing a business case or land transaction plan; assessing the strategic value of the land having regard to need, the geographic context, environmental values and applicable strategic plans; assessing opportunities to capture uplift in the land through value adding proposals if applicable; inspecting Council records relating to the land; carrying out appropriate site investigations; and for land owned by Council, confirming the land classification and the historical details of the acquisition."

The draft policy states that "a valuation must be obtained for acquisitions, sales, land swaps, or easements by an independent registered valuer who is suitably qualified in the asset type and locality".

However, it does allow staff to do the valuation in some circumstances.

"An assessment of the value of land or easements may be undertaken by Council staff if the land or easement is of low strategic or financial value, or a valuation has been recently undertaken and Council staff can confirm the validity of the previous valuation."

As well as sales, the draft policy also applies to and has provisions for acquisitions, the creation of easements or restrictions over Council's land, land swaps, dedications and donations of land, for transfer or vesting of land in Council by government agencies.

The Food and Wine Fair in Pearl Beach has been a popular event in past years

Groups cancel Pearl Beach events

Two community groups have cancelled events planned for Pearl Beach in coming weeks due to coronavirus restrictions.

The annual Pearl Beach Food and Wine Fair planned for September 26 has been cancelled by the Pearl Beach Progress Association.

Publicity officer Ms Lynne Lillico said: "We have had to cancel the 2020 event due to the current Covid-19 pandemic."

She said this was "extremely disappointing, as favourite exhibitors return every year to showcase and sell their products"

"The exhibitors have indicated that they look forward to returning next year when we can host events in the Pearl Beach Memorial Hall once again," she said.

Ms Lillico said the association had hosted the "Fair" since 2007, "attracting large crowds who enjoy tasting and buying from a diverse range of boutique wines and gourmet foods".

Pearl Beach Singers have cancelled their annual Glee Club Concert scheduled for August 21-

Singer Ms Pauline Toohey said the group had discussed the possibility of setting up online Zoom sessions, so the group could still meet up weekly and sing.

"We are hoping we may be able to hold the annual Pearl Beach Community Carols before Christmas.

"We have started sourcing suitable carols so that locals, visitors and families can participate and enjoy," she said.

Erosion threat for Pearl Beach homes, says consultant

Pearl Beach could be one of the next areas where waterfront homes may be threatened by erosion, according to a local planning consultant.

Dr Helen Monks of Highlight Consulting in Wagstaffe has compared Pearl Beach to Wamberal in a recent newsletter which gives "a statutory perspective on how public and private coastlines are managed in our democracy".

She reproduced a map from a 2017 Coastal Zone Management Plan, which shows the current storm erosion hazard line, the 2048 hazard line and the 2098 hazard line.

The map shows that the 2098 line is behind the development line.

Dr Monks commented: "In mid-July 2020, waves were scouring the beachfront boundaries of these properties, their fencing and landscaping."

Her newsletter reproduces the objects of the Environmental Planning and Assessment Act and the Coastal Management Act, its Regulations and State Environmental Planning Policy.

"It is clear that coastal areas are managed primarily for public purposes (of many types), but not fundamentally for private purposes (eg residences and/or their temporary protection)," Dr Monks commented.

"Below the State's multiple layers of strategic controls come local government's strategic and operational controls."

"Under State supervision, Central Coast Council administers six Coastal Zone/Estuary Management Plans for precincts within the region (dated 2006-2017, based on 1990s plans and earlier studies)."

She said the coastal zone management page on the council's website has "links to a number of other documents, including State and Federal documents which are a factor in any Council managing its coastal areas."

"Each one has been subject to years of preparation via studies, community consultation, public debate (media, Council Chamber, progress associations, professional bodies etc.), amendments, State scrutiny and eventually adoption and implementation."

She used the Gosford Coastal Zone Management Plan for Ocean Beaches as an example, which "discusses funding options for recommended or optional works".

"Table 3 refers to Pearl Beach - management actions. Table 19 refers to Wamberal Beach."

Dr Monks said: "EP and A Act S149 Planning Certificates (now S10.7 Planning Certificates) which are usually produced every time a property changes hands (or on request for a fee) have documented the risks for coastal properties for decades."

"No-one is forced to buy an at-risk property, nor can any owner claim they did not know the risks."

"Should owners of equally risky properties at St Huberts Island, Pretty Beach and other parts of the region all validly expect other taxpayers, other ratepayers and other people carrying property insurance to subsidise their purchase choices and the consequences?"

"If you have chosen a safe, dry, low-risk property, how do you feel about being asked to contribute to others' much more risky choices?"

Ted Noffs Foundation has a special way to treat addicted children.

We take them away from their harmful networks for three months and give them a bed in one of our residences. This way we can focus on healing them inside and out through counselling, detox, anger management, living skills and supervised schoolwork.

Every child is treated as an individual by our professional carers around the clock and after they leave us, we follow them up for another twelve months. It can be agonising for an addicted child. But it works.

We need your help to keep going. The problem doesn't just go away and there is always another child who needs us.

Council announces start to wharf construction

Central Coast Council has announced the start of the main construction phase of the new Woy Woy Wharf, following its approval in the Council's July 27 budget.

The $5.6 million project is the largest of 54 council projects approved for the Peninsula for the coming year, totalling almost $26 million.

Three projects will cost more than $4 million each.

The two others are the $5 million Umina skate park redevelopment and a $4.29 million replacement of the ventilation system at the Peninsula Leisure Centre.

Council director Mr Boris Bolgoff said: "It is very exciting to commence construction on this significant project which features a floating pontoon that will move with the varying tides and ensure access to ferry services and facilities in most tide and weather conditions.

"Our new Woy Woy Wharf will benefit commuters and community members who regularly use ferry services and will undoubtedly become a centre-piece and draw-card for Woy Woy."

Mr Bolgoff said: "Accessibility for community members who use wheelchairs or other mobility devices has been a priority throughout the design process.

"One of the added key features of the project is infrastructure to accommodate a wheelchair lifting facility on the pontoon for recreational boat users."

The project design included a dedicated fishing area located on the boardwalk, smart benches with phone charging capabilities, landscaping with established salt water tolerant trees and banner poles, he said.

Woy Woy's commercial wharf will operate as the main ferry wharf for the area while the new wharf is under construction.

Mayor Cr Lisa Matthews said: "This flagship project is a great example of different levels of government working together."

According to Parliamentary Secretary for the Central Coast Mr Adam Crouch, the State Government has contributed $3.99 million to the project.

"The current jetty becomes submerged during king tides but the new pontoon wharf will rise with the tide to reduce disruption and improve disability access," Mr Crouch said.

"The new wharf is capable of accommodating 35-metre vessels up to 250 tonnes, making it a significant asset to the Woy Woy community."

Opera in the Arboretum not to be held for 18 months

The Rotary Club of Woy Woy will not hold its annual fundraiser, Opera in the Arboretum, for another 18 months.

Earlier this year, the club cancelled this year's event, normally held in March.

The club has now decided to cancel next year's Opera in the Arboretum as well.

Club president Ms Joan Redmond said the decision had been made

"due to the ongoing uncertainty surrounding Covid-19, the restrictions on public gatherings, availability of artists, and the well-being of patrons and all involved in the event".

"We have had to make the difficult decision to postpone the next Opera in the Arboretum, due to be held in March 2021," she said.

"We are now planning to hold what will be our 15th Opera in the Arboretum in March 2022.

"We live in hope that by then a vaccine will be available, the pandemic will have abated, borders will be open, and we can gather once again to picnic under the gum trees and enjoy a glorious afternoon of Opera."

Ms Redmond said: "The Board looked at switching from March to October 2021 when daylight savings resumes, and to allow more time to elapse.

"However, the Arboretum is not available as the Jazz Festival is scheduled to be held that month."

Shark net kills 115 sharks, as well as turtles and fish

Shark nets installed at Umina Beach have killed 115 sharks, as well as turtles, fish and stingrays between 2013 and 2020, according to Member for Gosford Ms Liesl Tesch.

She said the net, similar to those installed at another 50 New South Wales beaches, had killed almost 90 per cent of all marine life caught over the last seven years.

This list included endangered species such as the green turtle, leatherback turtle and grey nurse shark, she said.

"It is clear we need an alternative to shark meshing programs on the Central Coast, with 130 marine animals caught up at Umina and all but 15 of them dying," said Ms Tesch.

"We need the NSW Government to introduce technologically advanced shark prevention, like we've seen in the successful drumline trial, to ensure our marine animals are protected."

She said the drumline technique used two buoys and a satellite-linked GPS communications unit attached to a baited hook.

Sharks in the area were detected when they took the bait and placed pressure on the communications line, which alerted a drumline operator who then relocated the shark.

The drumline is also used for research.

"I've found it really difficult to grasp that our shark mesh has had an 88 per cent death rate at Umina Beach alone over the past seven years," said Ms Tesch.

"It's obvious that we need a new strategy and the drumline trial may be our solution with results already showing significant improvements compared to existing methods of bather safety.

Five crews attend Woy Woy Rd accident

Emergency services were called to Woy Woy Rd, just after 1pm on Saturday, August 8, following reports of a two-vehicle accident.

Five crews attended the accident, including the Careflight helicopter.

Upon arrival, paramedics located a 41-year-old woman trapped in her vehicle.

She was extricated and treated for chest and limb injuries before being flown to Royal North Shore Hospital in a stable condition.

Paramedics assessed a 10-year-old boy who was taken to Gosford Hospital as a precaution, while man, believed to be in his 30s, refused treatment at the scene.

Former ambulance officer Mr Noel Plummer of Phegans Bays said he arrived on the crash scene just after it happened.

"I was driving north on Woy Woy Rd when I came upon a two-vehicle head-on smash," he said.

"The accident happened just north of the curve about halfway between the intersection of Woy Woy Bay Rd and Woy Woy Rd and where the old speed camera was located near the Tunnel Fire Trail.

"It looked like the crash had just happened about 10 to 15 seconds prior to me arriving on the scene."

Mr Plummer said, as a former

ambulance paramedic, he always stopped when he came upon situations like this to see if he could offer help.

"Before all the emergency services arrived about 10 minutes later, both an off-duty policeman and a fire stopped to help," he said.

"The man driving the ute only had minor bleeding but the woman driving the sedan was trapped behind the wheel and was very distressed with possibly a broken arm.

"Her son was complaining of bad chest pain, possibly caused by seat belt chest compression injuries.

"A great thing these days of mobile phones is how quickly help can be on its way, compared to way back when I was young and there was a desperate search for a public phone box," Mr Plummer said.

Top contender for weasel words and silly jargon award

Good on Bruce Hyland (Forum, Peninsula News, August 10) for drawing attention to Central Coast Council's unbelievable "Place Activation Framework and Identity Package" appearing in Peninsula News on July 27.

If there were prizes for documents that maximise the use of weasel words, obscure management speak and silly jargon for basically simple concepts and plans, this document would be a top contender.

Mr Hyland's letter highlighted some of these crimes against the English language, but please

All they were really trying to say was that they were planning to beautify the town centres of Woy Woy, Ettalong and Umina, and if we had any ideas on what was already attractive let us know what they are and what can be done to improve them.

No need for hundreds of words of management speak and other gibberish.

A small but important initiative

I recently researched our Woy Woy history and loved the old stories and photos, so much so that I printed some old photos and had these displayed at some spots in Woy Woy.

My heart bled as I did see – or did not see – the historical houses, shops and spaces that have disappeared.

Woy Woy has little left of its history.

Planning ideas since the 1990s have done little to brighten up our township.

So now, at last, Council has some new plans to "activate" some improvements, not with gutters and potholes, but with some streetscape beautification.

Even is it is only a small initiative, it is quite important for our town that get emptier by the day.

Forum

It needs brightening up. It needs more identity and more connection.

We, the residents, are wanting to be proud and happy about our town centres.

We can't redo the mistakes of the past but we can and must encourage our Council and also push for a better streetscape and atmosphere.

Nagging won't help, having an interest and involvement does.

Let the Council team do their job, whatever title they give the program.

Have them encourage artists and craftspeople to come forward with ideas to make our little Woy Woy town a pleasure to be in.

Bayview Cr needs an upgrade

There's no doubting much of the Central Coast's roads are being maintained and constructed to a very high standard.

But unfortunately some are still waiting for the attention they also need, probably none higher on that list than Bayview Cr at Blackwall.

Having been a resident of this location for some years, never before has using the roadway felt more confronting.

Forum

The surface is so decrepit due to fresh and previously patched potholes that it feels like driving over a cattle grate from start to finish.

It also consists of an extreme hairpin bend which offers road users no vision of oncoming traffic whatsoever.

I've witnessed many close calls

At the upper end of Bayview Cr, a sheer dropoff has nothing more than a number of posts spaced metres apart to act as a safety barrier.

These posts would be totally inadequate in a worst case scenario. A guardrail is clearly required.

A phone tower and nature reserve located at the street's very top are used by workers and members of the public on a daily basis.

Scores of mountain bikers, hikers, sporting teams and tourists, many of whom are families with children, use it as a thoroughfare to access this recreational area, particularly on weekends.

Speeding motor vehicles are not uncommon either, unregistered trail bikes included.

The risks of collision are exacerbated by the fact that Bayview Cr is only single lane over its entire distance.

Hopefully, the relevant authorities may be able to agree that this popular roadway should receive a much needed upgrade by way of resurfacing and alteration of its current layout.

In doing so, it will reduce the risk of injury and possibly fatality, also giving both residents and members of the public who use it some peace of mind.

Will the disabled access be fixed?

Disabled access to the Pavilion at Woy Woy has been made more difficult then ever with the current road works at Deepwater Plaza.

Nobody can use the access ramp in a wheelchair or scooter because it is surrounded by an inaccessible kerb and car parks.

Deepwater Plaza owns the car park and footpath and has previously flat out refused to fix it.

The question is: Will they fix the issue or just redo their road and leave 15 years of neglect and the kerb intact?

The lack of disabled access to the Pavilion in Woy Woy is in breach of the Disability Discrimination Act 1992 and the Disability (Access to Premises - Buildings) Standards 2010.

It is not accessible to anyone in a wheelchair, scooter or to mothers with large prams or shoppers with trolleys.

When The Pavilion in Woy Woy was wrongly approved by a private certifying body in 2005, Gosford Council allowed the development to proceed and, upon completion, neither were held accountable for not providing disabled access.

The owners of the Pavilion came up with an alternative access plan in 2007 that was never implemented.

The matter was raised several times to Gosford City Council since 2005 and, now the behemoth that is the Central Coast Council reigns, it seems nothing else will be done to resolve the situation.

The new owners of Deepwater Plaza are fixing the road, but will they fix the problem of no functional disabled access to The Pavilion?

It is time to finalise this important issue which discriminates against members of the community and also negatively affects the businesses within the Pavilion.

in the development assessment process are identified as the construction advances.

Why did the proponent with experience in aged care construction, assisted by consultants, fail to identify the well-known features of the Peninsula's water table?

In 2007, the former Gosford Council issued public information on ground water, including the Peninsula, which partly stated "groundwater is a state-controlled resource", the same state which appointed the planning panel.

Is there to be an investigation into this fiasco?

The planning bucket that holds the Peninsula's future is stuffed with unworkable development variations of this sort.

Buying off the plan is certainly a risk now and in the future. Select wisely.

New tanker for the Bays fire brigade

The Bays Rural Fire Brigade took delivery of a new $121,000 Cat 9 Tanker on August 7.

The brigade also has new IT equipment which was purchased through donations fundraised at the Coasties' Bushfire Appeal earlier this year.

NSW Minister for Police and Emergency Services Mr David

Elliott, Parliamentary Secretary for Central Coast Mr Adam Crouch, and Mr Taylor Martin MLC visited the brigade to see the new tanker.

More than 120 new and 70 refurbished trucks are expected to be in the hands of volunteers by the end of the next financial year.

Group to start community garden

The Bays Community Group is starting a community garden behind The Bays Community Hall.

"In recent months, we've had several enquiries about starting a community garden," said group president Ms Gwynneth Weir.

She said he group was looking for gardeners interested in helping to build and tending to a local community garden "right here in The Bays".

"Due to COVID-19, our recent fundraising efforts have been cancelled so this project would very much be a labour of love for the community, and would require donations of seeds, cuttings and plants," she said.

"With ample land to play with, all we need are ready and willing volunteers."

Card prepared as reminder

Member for Gosford Ms Liesl Tesch is urging local residents to sign a card welcoming a new petrol station to the Peninsula.

She has prepared a card welcoming the new United Petroleum station being constructed in Ocean Beach Rd, and expressing the community's desire for the station to price its fuel competitively.

"I want to extend a warm welcome to United Petroleum as they join the Peninsula family and remind them of the commitments made by their management in 2018 about bringing a better deal for residents," Ms Tesch said.

In November 2018, United Petroleum chief operating officer Mr David Szymchzak said he was aware of the lack of price competition for petrol on the Peninsula and was "absolutely" convinced United would be offering a cheaper alternative on Ocean Beach Rd.

Ms Tesch said: "I invite locals fed up with paying for overpriced petrol to visit my office and sign this card to express your support for lower fuel prices on the Peninsula.

"The more messages we write in this card, the greater the community's influence can be.

"We have fought for so many years.

"Change is well overdue. Let's get it done."

Ms Tesch said that the card can be signed at her office in Woy Woy, 9am to 5pm Monday to Friday.

Ms Tesch said Peninsula fuel prices were higher than at others in the region.

"It shouldn't be the case that petrol costs many cents more per litre in Woy Woy than it does in West Gosford.

"That's absurd, nor should locals have to travel off the Peninsula just to get a fairer deal," Ms Tesch said.

Registered clubs refuse entry

Three registered clubs on the Peninsula have jointly decided to refuse entry to people from coronavirus hotspots.

Everglades Country Club,

Ettalong Memorial Bowling Club and Ettalong Diggers Club made the announcement in a joint statement by their chairmen.

Ettalong Bowling Club chairman Mr Robert Henderson said the clubs would be "refusing entry to any person who resides in any area that is on the national hot spots listing including all of Victoria and over 300 suburbs in the city of Sydney, along with hot spots from around New South Wales."

Everglades president Mr Trevor Walker said: "Between the three clubs, we represent approximately 50,000 members and 295 employees.

"A very high importance is placed on the safety of the members and employees during this worrying pandemic."

Ettalong Diggers chairman Mr John Wood said: "We feel proud that we represent three businesses on the Peninsula that can work together during these uncharted and unusual times."

Parliamentary recognition of hand-washing experiment

Woy Woy Public School has been recognised in State Parliament for its experiment on the effectiveness of hand-washing.

Member for Gosford Ms Liesl Tesch mentioned the school and its experiment in Parliament during Education Week.

School principal Ms Ona Buckley said: "Ms Tesch praised our students and teacher Mr Owens for their Science experiment around germs and recognising the importance of washing hands with soap and using hand sanitiser during this time of Covid-19.

"Well done, Woy Woy Public School."

Ms Buckley said Ms Tesch had sent a copy of the recognition certificate sent to the school.

"We also had a link to a pod cast of Ms Tesch acknowledging us in a sitting Parliament.

"How very exciting."

Assistant Principal Ms Michelle Williams said: "We are thrilled that the hard work of Mr David Owens and his 3-60 students has been recognised in Parliament.

"Mr Owens and his class conducted a science experiment to discover the best way to clean their hands.

"This was a valuable learning experience for all students and interestingly the results showed that washing your hands with soap is the best way to eliminate germs."

Woy Woy school invited onto State early learning team

Woy Woy Public School has been invited to be part of a statewide "pedagogical leadership team" for the early learning unit of the Department of Education.

"Our school is on a journey of innovation to discover the best possible ways to connect with 21st Century students and their learning to achieve improved engagement and improved overall results," school principals Ms Ona Buckley and Mr Dan Betts said in the school newsletter.

"Our preschool has been through a huge overhaul both physically and educationally to focus on the Early Years Learning Framework, play-based exploration and self-discovery learning.

"At our last assessment and rating process, our preschool exceeded in all seven National Quality Standards and our goal is now to achieve an overall rating of Excellence."

As a result, Ms Buckley said: "We have also been invited to present what we do around play-based learning in a statewide staff meeting forum."

The principals said the school had implemented Language Learning and Literacy (L3) and Targeted Early Numeracy (TEN) into the K-2 stages and Focus on Reading (FoR) in the 3-6 stages.

"Years 3-6 are now implementing Advancement Via Individual Determination (AVID) strategies across their curriculum learning.

"We have improved student engagement and results in some areas but we are striving to better this still.

"In 2020 we have introduced a different daily routine with more frequent shorter breaks, blocks for Literacy and Maths across the school allowing also for ability groupings.

"In Years 3-6, we have rotational curriculum groups using an expert teacher with a passion for teaching their curriculum area.

"In K-2, we have made a seamless transition for students coming from the play-based, child-centred world of early learning into Kindergarten and beyond.

"We are in the process of overlaying STEM metalanguage across the curriculum in our intentional play based environments to enhance student skills in critical thinking, problem-solving, higher-order thinking skills and risk-taking."

Ms Buckley said the school was a part of the Central Coast Academy of STEM Excellence.

So many great things happening for our school.

"Like all other schools this year we have become experts in online learning from home for our students - such a huge learning curve for everyone but everyone embraced and got on with so positively.

"As we go into the phase of planning for the 2021-2024 School Improvement Plan, we can reflect on the many innovations we have implemented and what works best to improve student results and engagement in learning."

From sounds and shapes to art and history

Students at Ettalong Public School have been involved in activities, ranging from sounds and shapes to art and history

"Stage 1 students have been learning about and creating games and toys from the decades gone by in history lessons," said principal Ms Lynn Balfour.

"There has been lots of writing of persuasive arguments on topics such as why older toys are better than newer toys and why outside games are better to play than inside ones.

"Mrs Fabri has passed on her love of sewing and weaving to 1F and 1/2P has loved listening to the Roald Dahl classic, Fantastic Mr Fox.

"3T have been learning about angles and lines this week.

"They investigated the differences between vertical, horizontal, parallel and perpendicular lines and were on the hunt to find angles all over our school.

"The whole class is becoming more confident in naming acute, obtuse and right angles."

She said the class enjoyed outdoor learning during mathematics and being active during "fun maths".

"Last week students from Kindergarten completed activities that were all about the sound 'ck'," Ms Balfour said.

"In mathematics we studied 2D shapes and we sorted them according to their properties. "We also had great fun doing the dance Heads, Shoulders, Knees and Toes."

She the Kindergarten class loved art and completed a Mondrian-style artwork using the primary colours.

Weekly anti-bullying lessons at Pretty Beach

Pretty Beach Public School is conducting weekly anti-bullying lessons during term three, with the theme "Expect respect".

"Our focus on anti-bullying across all K-6 classrooms will be presented through weekly lessons," said teacher Ms Katrina Hutchens.

"This series of lessons has been developed specially for our school context, and they also link to the NSW Department of Education Child Protection Curriculum."

She said lessons covered topics such as power in relationships, saying "No", coercion, harassment, assertiveness in different situations, talking to adults about a problem and using personal networks for support.

"At our school we understand that bullying is a very complex social behaviour that occurs between people of all kinds and all ages.

"It is likely that bullying behaviour could, at times, be evident amongst groups of children during their schooling.

"However, our school is taking an intentional, proactive approach to reduce the likelihood of bullying behaviour at our school."

She said the school had a four-point philosophy.

"Teach the definition of bullying behaviour (teach the difference between what is rude, what is mean and what is bullying) and then teach the pro-social behaviours we expect to see at our school. This means explicitly teaching how to be respectful.

"Teach students how to report possible bullying behaviours (immediate self-report or peer report) and who to report to (teachers first).

"Teach teachers how to respond consistently and respectfully to any report of bullying behaviour and how to explore these reports with relevant students in a respectful way.

"Develop school-wide systems for reporting concerning behaviour (eg self-report, anonymous report, online report)."

Ms Hutchens said: "Child Protection lessons are often a safe space for students to talk candidly about events that are currently concerning them relating to social relationships.

"In all lessons, there is a clear learning intention for all students and a clear link to expected social behaviours relating to social inclusion/exclusion, covert bullying behaviours and complex social dynamics related to bullying."

She said the first two of our eight school-based lessons were available on the school's "expect respect" website.

Students raise $3000 through readathon

Woy Woy South Public School has raised $3000 with 46 students registered in the MS Readathon.

"The MS Readathon inspires kids to read as much as they can, for a great cause," said teacher Ms Kayla McNeill.

Money raised will help fund support services, like the MS Family Camps which aim to provide an opportunity for children who have a parent living with multiple sclerosis to spend quality time with their family.

Ms McNeill said students could read whatever they liked, as much as they liked, during the month of August.

The readathon ends on August 31.

She said students could register online to join their class or the school, if their class was not registered.

Principal Mr Matt Barr said: "We are proud of the effort our students are putting in for such a worthy cause."

Public education awards

Ettalong Public School's assistant principal and its parents' association treasurer have been presented with Public Education Award.

School principal Ms Lynn Balfour said it was her pleasure to present the awards.

"Cathy Kelly who is our P and C treasurer, and is also a dedicated canteen volunteer, was deservedly recognised for her efforts for the Ettalong school community.

"Adam Penberthy, our popular assistant principal who supervises Years One and Two students and staff, was also recognised for his professionalism and ongoing dedication to our school," she said.

"I congratulate and thank them both."

Umina school has second round of surveys

Umina Beach Public School is participating in a second round of surveys aimed at improving student well-being, engagement and teaching practices.

School principal Ms Lyn Davis said a survey had been conducted at the start of the year.

The second survey would help identify trends in student responses and help track student engagement, she said.

"The survey is a great opportunity for our students to provide us with valuable and quick feedback on what they think about school life, how engaged they are with school and the different ways that teachers interact with them," Ms Davis said.

Ms Davis said that capturing the voices of the students would help improve the school and how things were run.

The school will also be participating in the Partners in Learning parent survey, which is connected to the Tell Them From Me survey, both being organised by the Department of Education.

The Partners in Learning survey asks parents and carers questions about different factors known to impact a student's wellbeing and engagement.

Ms Davis said the survey provided valuable feedback and helped the school make practical improvements.

"Running this survey will help our school understand parents and carers' perspectives on their child's experience at school," Ms

Davis said.

Ms Davis said that many different factors contributed to a student's wellbeing and engagement, including communication between parents, carers and staff, practices at home, and views on school support of learning and behaviour.

The Partners in Learning survey is conducted online and took 15 minutes.

Ms Davis said that the surveys were entirely voluntary and confidential, with both conducted between August 17 and September 11.

She said all contributions and responses were highly appreciated by the school.

Athletics carnival held at Adcock Park

Woy Woy South Public School has held its school athletics carnival at Adcock Park, West Gosford.

Principal Mr Matt Barr said: "This was a fantastic day and, given the latest restrictions, we were lucky to have it at all."

"Our children looked amazing in their sports uniforms and the behaviour and participation was outstanding.

"One of the highlights of the day was the presence of amazing house spirit and support for others doing their best."

New coronavirus restrictions will mean no zone carnival will be held this year.

Plovers nest on basketball court

A pair of plovers has successfully nested at Umina Beach Public School.

"Our resident plovers welcomed two chicks yesterday," said principal Ms Lyn Davis.

"They were unsuccessful last year trying to nest on the senior playground.

"It was just too busy and their eggs kept being damaged.

"Therefore, this year they have chosen an even stranger place - the hard surface basketball courts."

Markers have been put around the area, "which reminds students to keep their distance, as the plovers are very protective", Ms Davis said.

Support staff praised by school principal

Support staff at Empire Bay Public School have been praised by the school principal.

Office staff, support teachers, groundsman and cleaners were all recognised in the school's Education Week Awards ceremony.

School principal Ms Simone Champion said: "I have worked in many schools over the years and there is not a better group of people to work with especially during these more complex times."

"This was particularly evident during home schooling time where each of these groups of people went above the call of duty to support the teachers and students in any way they could."

"No task was too much to ask and the dedication to complete these was beyond outstanding."

Ms Champion said that this year the Education Week Awards were done a little differently.

"Normally, we would go to a large hall and award recipients would receive their certificate on the big stage.

"This year, we held our award ceremony in the library which added a personal touch."

The teachers put on a lovely barbecue breakfast for our worthy recipients and ensured they all felt pampered."

She said she was thankful that the school had "such thoughtful and caring people".

Pretty Beach team participates in online debate

The Pretty Beach Public School debating team participated in the first round of the Premier's Debating Challenge on Thursday, August 13, using an online platform.

The team debated with the Umina Beach Public Soarers the topic "That a panel of student leaders should decide how misbehaving students are punished".

The final results saw the Pretty Beach team as the winners.

Teacher Ms Kate McKinney

said: "The Pretty Beach debating team were the negative team and had some great ideas about why this would be a disastrous idea."

"Both teams presented really well."

She said the school had thanked the debating coordinators and adjudicator for organising and running the debate.

"It was a great learning experience and we look forward to participating in more online debates throughout 2020."

Kindergarten enrolments sought

Empire Bay Public School is seeking enrolments for next year's Kindergarten classes.

Principal Ms Simone Champion said children should be enrolled online so that the school could start organising its numbers for next year.

"If you are aware of any neighbours or friends who have preschool age children and are due to enrol their child in our wonderful school for 2021, could you let them know," she wrote in the school newsletter.

Ms Champion said the school could not take out of zone applications at this time "as our school's accommodation of classrooms are full with in area students".

"Even though times are a little different to usual, we are excited to welcome our newest Kinder children as they journey towards their first day of school."

Further information is available on the school's website or by contacting the school.

Bin hazard on Daley Ave

Cyclists and joggers are being warned about a hazard along a short stretch of road on Daley Ave, Daleys Point, because of residents leaving their garbage bins on the roadside.

The warning was posted on social media, urging people to be aware that many of the residents on the short stretch of Daley Ave from the St Huberts Island roundabout to Maitland Bay Dr continually leave out their empty bins beyond the kerb and gutter.

Cyclists particularly have to steer out into the traffic to get past these obstacles.

Mr Jeffrey Evans said he saw one pair of young schoolgirls do just that.

"The younger, less experienced rider wobbled dangerously out into the path of a car heading toward the Rip Bridge and it was only because of the consideration of the lady driver that the girl was not injured," he said.

Central Coast Council did not respond when this newspaper made inquiries.

Community association hears president's report

Members of the Wagstaffe-Killcare Community Association have received their president's report at the association's annual meeting on July 13.

The report from president Mr Mike Allsop covered cancelled events and plans for the rest of the financial year.

Mr Allsop said Trash and Treasure 2020 was cancelled due to the Covid-19 crisis.

He said it had been a success last year with enthusiastic community participation.

Australia Day was successfully held at the start of this year.

Mr Allsop said the event made use of facilities and volunteers on the day and helped to raise funds for the Killcare Rural Fire Service.

He said the association took a different approach to funding and collection and obtained a grant from Central Coast Council to cover the costs of the day, as well as contributing to catering costs.

"We did not seek community donations for the association, rather leaving all donations to the benefit of our local fire service," Mr Allsop said.

He said operations had slowly recommenced at the Pretty Beach Tennis Courts, with hygiene measures and social distancing still required.

Mr Allsop said the association was continuing to advocate for projects to improve local amenities.

"This is a major focus for us this year, and fortunately we have developed a good relationship with our councillors and with other political representatives as well as various senior officers in Council."

Upgrade for Greenfield Rd

Greenfield Rd in Empire Bay has undergone an upgrade between Rickard Rd and Rosella Rd.

Central Coast Council director Mr Boris Bolgoff said the major upgrade would improve the management of stormwater run-off and provide increased accessibility for motorists and pedestrians.

"This project included significant street drainage, kerb and gutter, new road pavement and street tree planting," Mr Bolgoff said.

"Both safety and accessibility have been improved through this project.

"We've constructed a shared pathway on the eastern side of the road and made improvements to bus stops."

Member for Terrigal Mr Adam Crouch said: "Greenfield Rd is the main thoroughfare in and out of Empire Bay and has been identified as a priority project by local residents over a number of years."

Mayor Cr Lisa Matthews said the upgrade would benefit Empire Bay residents and visitors to the area.

"This major upgrade of Greenfield Rd is a great result for the community," Cr Matthews said.

Little Theatre postpones three productions

The Woy Woy Little Theatre has decided postpone three of their productions initially scheduled for this year.

Ladies in Lavender, Appointment with Death, and Ben Hur have all been delayed with new dates yet to be set.

Theatre president Ms Christine Vale said members and ticket holders would be informed when dates were set.

"Current ticket holders are entitled to a refund and we will be refunding over the next week or so," she said.

"This is a large task."

Voluntary non-profit business donates to charity

A new antiques and collectables shop has been established in Woy Woy as a voluntary non-profit business.

The business is run solely by volunteers and donates a percentage of sales to a different local charity every month.

Store manager Mr Mitchell Gordon said he and two others established the business to support local charities through the coronavirus pandemic.

Three other volunteers are also currently involved.

He said he previously had experience running pop-up shops for the Fairhaven charity in Point Clare.

They had proved successful and were the model for this business, which has a permanent shop in Deepwater Plaza.

Antiques and Collectables specialised in affordable retro items and unusual vintage collectables, he said.

"We donate a percentage of sales to a different local charity each month and Brisbane Water Rotary Club was our first," Mr Gordon said.

"We presented the newly-formed service club with $700 in July."

A second donation of a similar amount was made to the RSPCA last week.

Its next donation will be to the Brisbane Water Historical Society.

Woy Woy Antiques and Collectables is located at shops 52 and 53 Deepwater Plaza, Woy Woy.

CLASSIFIEDS ADVERTISING RATES

Classified advertising is the cheapest form of newspaper advertising. This newspaper is also published on line on the publication date, and is also read that way by hundreds of people. All advertisements, including these classified advertising pages, appear in full on-line as an additional benefit for free.

See www.coastcommunitynews.com.au

Central Coast Newspapers' classified advertising rates are relatively much lower than in other newspapers and at the same time much larger than in other newspapers, with the minimum size being 50mm X 42mm. Approximately 15,000 copies of this newspaper are printed and distributed every week.

Personal and Not For Profit Organisations

As Central Coast Newspapers are community newspapers, the cost of advertising not for profit organisations' events is subsidised. This makes them the same rate as non business advertisements.

A mono 5cm advertisement only costs $33. Each additional cm costs $6.60 as does colour, and/or a photograph or a logo. Private advertisements need to be paid for at the time of booking.

Business and In Memorium rates

The minimum size of 5cm X a single column only costs $50 + GST in mono and an extra $10 + GST for colour, a logo or a photograph.

Classified advertisements in all 3 papers are only $40+GST each.

Most businesses choose to advertise on an ongoing basis and discounts apply for multiple bookings, if they are paid for in full, in advance.

Having a prepaid classified advertisement run for 6 editions only costs $250 + GST and $50 + GST more for colour. For 12 editions, it is $495 + GST and $100+ GST more for colour. For 24 editions, it is only $950 + GST and $200 + GST for colour, a saving of $290 + GST.

Artwork is free and advertisers are encouraged to change their advertisements frequently

Surf club seeks material for its 100th anniversary

Ocean Beach Surf Life Saving Club is seeking help from residents as it prepares for its 100th anniversary in 2022.

Historian Ms Julie Aitchison is looking for Peninsula locals who own memorabilia and souvenirs from the club.

“We are hoping the public will look through all their old photos, newspaper clippings or any paperwork that might be associated with the surf club,” Ms Aitchison said.

The club already has a number of historic items, including a program from a 1928 surf carnival, photos of the Pitt Brothers who were members in the late 1920s, and blazers from the 1950s.

Ms Aitchison said all the items were precious to the community and helped to tell the story of the club’s history.

A 1939 minute book has helped the club uncover some helpful history, but Ms Aitchison believes Peninsula locals could own earlier books.

She said the club was the oldest surf life-saving club on the Central Coast and was formed in January 1922, by several locals who visited the Peninsula each weekend.

“The Ocean Beach Surf Life

Saving Club was formed several weeks before the Morning Star Masonic Lodge in Woy Woy, and years before the formation of the Woy Woy Ettalong Sub Branch of the RSL,” Ms Aitchison said.

Avoca Beach defeated Woy Woy in all grades of rugby union played on Saturday, August 15.

Avoca held Woy Woy to zero in three grades: Premier Two, President's Cup and Colts.

Central Coast Rugby Union president Mr Larry Thomson said Avoca Beach "displayed great form" to defeat Woy Woy by 37 points to 12 in the Premier One game at Woy Woy Oval.

"The first half was a quite even affair and scores remained quite close for much of the first 40 minutes," he said.

"Avoca Beach did slip away slightly on the scoreboard just prior to halftime, to go to the break leading by 20 points to 12.

"Woy Woy scored all their points in the first half and actually led by 12 points to 10 well into the first half.

"But the further the match went, the stronger Avoca Beach became.

Avoca Beach were able to post a further four tries in the second stanza to secure a quite comfortable victory.

"It was a good performance by Avoca Beach and one that will be noted by all opposition teams.

"Woy Woy gave it their all but just could not stop Avoca Beach in the second half.

A FUTURE TO LOOK FORWARD TO

The time is now

With all the current uncertainty in the world, there's actually never been a better time to make that decision about your retirement lifestyle.

Major events, such as those we are currently facing with COVID-19, inevitably bring a change in perspective.

With the current Coronavirus restrictions, society as a whole this year is experiencing isolation like never before. But seniors in particular are among those most heavily impacted, as families and friends do their best to keep their older loved ones safe and maintain their physical distance. Seniors are also quickly realising the burden that comes from owning and maintaining a larger home, and are looking towards the simple life

At Oak Tree, it's reassuring to know that you can still have your own personal space, but that the village manager or a caring neighbour is never far away in times of need. Even in your own villa, you're still connected as part of our village community. Being surrounded by neighbours who care, it's comforting to know that we're all in it together.

In these uncertain times, the safety and security of a village environment offers some much needed comfort and assurance. Residents also have the peace-of-mind knowing that all the regular maintenance is taken care of so they can just focus on what's important.
