

UCSW conservation plans not revealed by council

The Department of Planning and Environment has revealed that a “conservation strategy” exists for the endangered Umina Coastal Sandplain Woodland that has not been publicly acknowledged by Central Coast Council.

It also says that a “funded management plan” was prepared by its Saving our Species team with the Council for the Council’s March consultation about the rare bushland.

However, conflicting statements by the Department mean confusion remains about what management planning for the woodland is actually occurring on the Peninsula.

Central Coast Council did not disclose the department’s conservation strategy or the funded management plan when it advertised for comment about management of Umina Coastal Sandplain Woodland in March.

Neither were listed on the council’s Your Voice Our Coast website among the relevant documents.

The strategy contains two “priority management sites” not included in the council’s plans to spend $225,000 from its Protection of the Environment Trust on restoration of the “endangered ecological community”.

The strategy lists the sites as “Woy Woy station” and “Pearl Beach”.

The Woy Woy station site is 2.84 hectares of “vegetation between Woy Woy station and Brisbane Water estuary”.

“Current tenure is listed as Crown Land.

“However, it appears to be managed by Central Coast Council.”

The Pearl Beach site is 1.62 hectares, described as being “near Pearl Beach on council-managed land, road reserve and some fragments of private land”.

At both sites, the strategy is to “reduce and maintain weed densities at low levels” through weed control and monitoring.

At the Pearl Beach site, it aims to “reduce the impact of recreational activities” through community education and signs, and also to “liaise with government agency” to “minimise impacts of clearing-removal of key habitat”.

At the Woy Woy site, the strategy is also to “minimise accidental damage on road-track edges”.

According to the department, the strategy was publicly exhibited in 2019.

The department’s Biodiversity Conservation Division submitted recommendations to the Council about its plans to rezone recreation land in Macleay Ave, Woy Woy, identified as Umina Coastal Sandplain Woodland in December last year.

It recommended that “any additional funding for the restoration and conservation of UCSW should consider existing management plans”.

The Division noted “that a fully funded vegetation management plan is proposed and an existing one covers part of the site”.

It stated: “A fully-funded and Council-approved vegetation management plan is proposed for the part of the site being dedicated to Council (i.e. the drainage line).”

It also stated: “Currently there is also a funded management plan being prepared by Council and the department’s Saving our Species team.

“Management plans for the rehabilitation and restoration of the three largest patches of UCSW are being funded by another development.”

The only information available from council for its March consultation were plans for “the largest three patches” being funded from the Protection of the Environment Trust.

According to the schedule for this project, these management plans were not scheduled to be undertaken for several years.

However, a statement from the Department last week claimed the funded management plan being undertaken with the Saving our Species team referred to the March consultation.

This “current” plan was not mentioned in the Council’s consultation.

“The Saving our Species team provided information and guidance to Council to ensure its rehabilitation plan was consistent with the conservation strategy.

“Council’s plan applies to the area under Council management, while the department’s conservation strategy is for the entire endangered ecological community.”

No explanation has been given by the Council or the Department why council-managed land at Woy Woy station or at Pearl Beach has not been included in the council’s restoration project.

The department said that any community members interested in conservation or restoration efforts for the UCSW ecological community could email the Hunter Central Coast branch of the Biodiversity Conservation Division at huntercentralcoast@environment.nsw.gov.au.

The conservation strategy can be found on the department’s website at <https://www.environment.nsw.gov.au/savingourspeciesapp/project.aspx?ProfileID=10822>.

Peninsula news & advertising for the Peninsula community

All the news that didn’t fit in print

For each issue of Peninsula News, we have more news items about the Peninsula than we have space to print.

Peninsula News EXTRA is an electronic supplement to printed edition, which contains these extra items.

This is produced with the same layout as the print edition, but is in PDF form only, published on the Thursday following the print edition.

As advertising support allows, these pages will be included in the print edition.

Volunteer opportunities are available in all aspects of the newspaper’s production, from news gathering and photography, through to seeking advertising and administration.

Offers of assistance are always welcome.

Editorial policy and guidelines

At its heart, Peninsula News is a community effort.

It welcomes and relies on the contributions provided voluntarily and at no cost by local organisations, groups and residents.

The newspaper aims to be accessible to the community - both through making its columns accessible to community groups and by having copies available in accessible locations, including through its website.

The following policies and guidelines are designed to support the aims and standards of the newspaper.

Locality

The newspaper's editorial policy reflects a desire to reinforce the Peninsula's sense of community.

To qualify for publication, articles must have specific relevance to the Peninsula. For example, they must be about activities or events happening on the Peninsula or be organised by or involving Peninsula people.

The newspaper is not regional or national in nature, so regional or national issues will not be canvassed except as they affect the Peninsula.

Regional sports will only be covered from the perspective of Peninsula clubs. Regional plans will only be aired in the context of their ramifications for the Peninsula.

Peninsula News aims to be inclusive of as much of the Peninsula community as possible.

Readability

To ensure that the newspaper serves its purpose, it must be readable and represent the interests and activities of the community in its content.

Contributions to the paper are edited to consistent standards of readability. Guidelines are available for intending contributors.

All items will be dated. They must contain the name of the author to whom the contribution may be attributed, with their first name spelt out, along with their suburb or organisation. Anonymous contributions will not be accepted.

Forum letters

The Forum section provides the opportunity for readers to express their views on any aspect of Peninsula community life, with the aim of reflecting the community's diversity of opinion.

Nevertheless, letters may be edited for readability, including for length, spelling and grammar, and to avoid legal liability on the part of the newspaper, or they may be declined altogether.

Contributors are asked to keep their contributions to the matter at hand, and to focus on the issues and not abuse or insult others.

Other than in the case of holding public figures to account, criticism of others (as opposed to criticism of particular opinions) is unlikely to be published in the interests of facilitating the expression of a diversity of views.

All letter writers need to supply name, address and contact details. Only name and suburb will be published.

Contributors who do not wish the wording of their letter to be changed at all should make a note to this effect when submitting their letter. In some cases, this may result in the letter not being published.

Corrections

We try to be as accurate as possible. However, mistakes can still slip through.

If you believe we have got something wrong, whether an error of fact or interpretation, we ask that you write to us by email with details for publication. These corrections may appear as Forum letters or as news items and should conform to our requirements for news and Forum contributions.

Source lines

Peninsula News includes "source lines" at the end of each article which aim to provide readers with information about where and how we came across the information, so that they might judge for themselves the veracity of what they are reading.

It should not be assumed that the article is a verbatim reproduction of the source. Similarly, it should not be assumed that any reporter listed is necessarily responsible for writing the whole news item. Source lines are not by-lines.

Often articles come from a number of sources. They are edited for readability and reader interest and given different headings, and consequently can be expressed quite differently from the source material.

Peninsula News usually receives its information in three ways: It is sent to us by someone wanting to promote their activities; it is sent to us in response to our inquiries; or it comes from a newsletter or other document to which we have access.

Sometimes we may interview a person or report what they said at a meeting.

The following descriptions are used:

Media Release - unsolicited contributions.
Media Statement - sent in response to our questions.
Website or Social Media - information published online.
Newsletter or Report - published in print or online.
Interview or Meeting - statements recorded by a reporter.

Forum contributions may be: Email if sent electronically and Letter if written on paper.

Rain below average but close to median

The 37.8mm of rain recorded on the Peninsula in August was well below the monthly average, according to figures supplied by Mr Jim Morrison of Umina.

It was 29.2mm, or 43.6 per cent, less than the August average of 67mm.

The fall was eighth lowest in 18 years and just below the median of 44m, in a range between one millimetre in 2005 and 216.6mm recorded in 2015.

The first three days of September saw 24.2mm of rain.

Garden to be planted for Queen's jubilee

Woy Woy Public School has received funding to plant trees to recognise The Queen's Jubilee through the federal government's Planting Trees for The Queen's Jubilee program.

The school will use the $14,000 funding to build a native garden that will promote play-based learning and recognise The Queen's Jubilee.

Member for Robertson Dr Gordon Reid attended an official breaking-of-the-earth ceremony with Member for Gosford Ms Liesl Tesch and staff and students from Woy Woy Public School.

"It's been great to see what Woy Woy Public School plans to build with this funding."

He said the educational benefits of the garden would include play-based learning, studying native trees and plants and understanding the food that these plants provided to native animals and insects.

"I look forward to visiting when the project is complete and seeing the school community connect to nature through this garden."

One Council demerging, three others trying - it's time the Central Coast community have their say!

On 24 August 2022, the Minister for Local Government announced that Cootamundra Gundagai Council would demerge. This is not the only Council, or community, that recognises the 2016 Council mergers have delivered a poor outcome for their communities.

In 2021, Inner West Council conducted a poll where over 62% of voters wanted to demerge. Council is now preparing a business case.

In July 2022, the largest Council in NSW, Canterbury Bankstown voted to prepare a business case for a demerger and in August 2022, Snowy Rivers Council also voted to prepare a business case for a demerger.

Gosford and Wyong Councils were merged in 2016 by the NSW Liberal Government to become Central Coast Council. Six years later, staff have been sacked, rates are rising, community assets have been sold, services have been cut and local democracy has been taken from our community.

The 20 amalgamated councils around NSW faced losses of $1.03 billion in the first three years of mergers and ratepayers faced hikes in rates and cuts in services. Eight out of 10 of the worst performing councils in NSW were merged councils.

In November 2020, Greg Warren, NSW Shadow Minister for Local Government, said the Labor opposition, with support from the cross benches, would establish a parliamentary inquiry into the failing merger process and identify options the government must take to repair the damage done to councils and their communities. However, it appears that NSW Labor has failed to follow through on this promise.

Our community on the Central Coast deserves to have a say about the future of our Council.

We are calling on the Central Coast Council Administrator, Rik Hart, to conduct a poll to find out what the community wants for the future of the Central Coast Council.

In an interview with the local ABC radio on 26 August 2022, the Administrator said "no, I'm not going to do that.....I've made it very clear... that I'm not going to do it because I get told all the time that we do not want the Councillors back".... "...and another thing, the Administrator is just as accountable to the community as any Councillor or Mayor is....." Mr. Hart said.

Tell us what you think - use the QR code to have your say about the future of Central Coast Council.

What do you think about the future of our council ?

Food and Wine Fare at Pearl Beach in October

The Pearl Beach Progress Association is preparing for its "Food and Wine Fare" day to be held from 10am to 5pm on Saturday, October 8.

The free event will be held at the Pearl Beach Memorial Hall, 9 Diamond Rd, Pearl Beach.

The event, now in its 15th year, will raise funds for maintenance of the hall.

"It attracts large crowds who enjoy tasting and purchasing from a select range of boutique wines and gourmet foods," said association publicity officer Ms Lynne Lillico.

She said Old Inn Road Vineyard and Millbrook Estate Winery would return this year, offering a variety of wines to sample and purchase.

"We are delighted to have Central Coast Firescreek Botanical Winery whose natural flavours of the fruit and flowers are captured in the wine."

She said fresh gourmet products would include a selection from Little Creek Cheese and Crooked Creek's savoury and sweet biscuits and homemade Christmas cakes and puddings.

Hunter Olives would have a variety of olives and processed products, and SweetAs Handmade Chocolates would "tempt and sizzle your senses".

New this year is the Original Smoke and Spice Company bringing smoked salt seasoning to garlic bulbs, stunning smoked nuts and dried and smoked cocktail garnish range.

Local suppliers would include Soul Food gluten-free products, Rigotoni For Toni and For the Luv of Cakes, Margin's Mushrooms and Natural Hive Honey.

"Refreshments will be available on the back deck," said Ms Lillico.

"A Gourmet Hamper filled with produce and wine donated by our exhibitors will be raffled with proceeds toward the Memorial Hall maintenance and upkeep."

Woy Woy Community Garden will be part of an Edible Garden Trail run by Permaculture Central Coast on the weekend of November 19 and 20.

The Trail will include around 25 private gardens and a variety of community, laneway and school gardens, said coordinator Ms Anna Trigg.

The ticketed event will provide admission to the gardens over the weekend, from 9am to 4pm each day.

Some gardens will only be open for one day.

Ms Trigg said: "The Edible Garden Trail celebrates the many ways gardeners on the Central Coast are creating food security, building personal and community resilience, regenerating soils and converting waste into precious resources."

She said they were doing this while enjoying the health benefits of home grown produce and taking meaningful action towards reducing food miles and plastics use.

"On the edible garden trail, visitors can view a range of permaculture systems and practices."

These included food forests, indigenous foods and cultural practices, as well as small animal systems including deep litter, chook tractors and integrated food forests.

Water management systems included swales, rain gardens and ponds, and practices included no-dig raised beds and sheet mulching.

Tickets cost up to $56 for a family ticket.

Council ignores endangered bushland

Umina Coastal Sandplain Woodland is very rare and highly-endangered bushland vegetation is being once again minimised in importance by Central Coast Council, and formerly Gosford City Council (Peninsula News 551, p1).

The new proposal, rather than foster and protect the known areas, continues the incremental clearing of precious areas, reducing their biodiversity and capacity to foster regeneration.

The vegetation was first identified by Robert Payne and registered.

Since that time Council has allowed a fenced off and signposted block immediately behind Umina Public School to be invaded by foreign plants and degraded and the fence not maintained.

When I drew this to Council's attention some years back, the first response was a denial that it was part of the protected area as it was not on their maps.

I sent them a picture of their own signage, confirming its status, and they said they did not have funds to maintain it.

I was advised that funds were likely to be available to support Gosford Council on application.

And this was to occur but the funds, if they were applied for and materialised, were never applied to this particular pristine area.

Since that time, the council has approved clearing of other areas.

After community engagement with the Catholic Church as developer of another pristine area on the corner of Hillview St opposite Umina campus of Brisbane Water Secondary College, that property passed to a private developer.

Clearing was done of the major part of the internal area of the block, leaving the street sides protected from view of the clearing.

A subsequent developer obtained Council approval to destroy much of what was left for a residential facility on the grounds that the residual area was not so significant that a bit more clearing could not occur.

Now we have a new assault on another area: to clear 1948 square metres in Macleay Ave for residential development.

The NRMA carpark at Umina Beach has also been responsible for incremental clearing of areas in the UCSW conservation area where they occupy land.

Some of it was actually sold to them by Gosford Council, because facilities had been accidentally built in the area managed by the council.

I fear that unless substantial fines are imposed, with a full identification and mapping of the areas, we shall continue to lose precious vegetation until the entire endangered ecological community is lost forever.

Action is needed to ensure Central Coast Council understands its responsibilities and take action to pay for independent mapping of the areas ensure that this does not happen.

Adequate and informed mapping and notification of landholders (including our schools) is essential and is urgent and should be the responsibility of Central Coast Council.

Council tree removal an act of vandalism

I draw your attention to this outrageous act of vandalism by Central Coast Council.

This magnificent tree in the grounds of the Gosford Regional Gallery had dropped a couple of branches in high winds.

It has been cut down to the ground as well as a smaller mature tree alongside it.

This tree could have been had some limbs lopped or pruned back and at least the main trunk left standing to provide habitat for native birds, an absolute disgrace.

Gardening book event

Local community radio gardening presenter Ms Cheralyn Darcey will discuss a new book by Gardening Australia host Costa Georgiadis in a ticketed event at Pearl Beach Arboretum on from 10:30am on Saturday, October 1.

She said she hoped to dig into his gardening philosophies, the connections between soil, soul and the suburbs, and his advice for getting the most joy out of your garden.

The book will be on sale at the event, and available for signing after the conversation.

Hats are recommended, as well as closed, comfortable shoes for this outdoor, all-weather event.

Light work of pinning quilts

Many hands made light work for members of the patchwork group at the Ettalong Beach Arts and Craft Centre last week.

"A few of our Monday patchworkers almost broke the record for the most quilts pinned in a session," said centre president Mr Peter Mulholland.

Ms Sarah Vaughn, Ms Denise McKnight and Ms Cheryl Jones

are pictured working on one of Ms Vaughn's baby quilts.

Also in the patchwork session, Ms Colleen Moscatelli was working on her Japanese print hexagons.

"She showed us a different, and very neat method of stitching them together.

"She's on the way to make a beautiful bag."

Umina green to be taken out of use

One green will be taken out of use at Umina Beach Bowling Club and undergo maintenance from Monday, November 14.

"From this time we will be down to one green," said club secretary Mr Peter Springett.

"There have been reports of men bowlers rolling up on Mondays.

"This is not supposed to occur, as the greens are closed on Mondays for green's maintenance.

"As such, chemicals may be sprayed on the greens on Mondays.

"The greens will be closed on Mondays, unless prior approval is obtained from the club manager."

Minor Pairs championship

Grant Ambrose and Upu Kila have taken out the 2022 Minor Pairs Championship at Umina Beach Men's Bowling Club, defeating Phil Poulton and Dave Long in the final.

"The game see sawed throughout, until Upu and Grant strung a few ends together towards the end of the game," said club secretary Mr Peter Springett.

"This resulted in Phil and David having to play catch-up and go for shots that they probably wouldn't have gone for earlier on in the game.

"The final score of 21-14 does not reflect how close this game really was."

Five Ettalong Eagles teams make netball grand finals

CARAWAS-IJ Green Runners-up 2022

Ettalong Eagles Netball Club has had five teams play in the grand finals, with two teams crowned premiers.

Spirit Senior Blue won the premiership with seven players on the day to take the win by eight goals.

Osprey IJ Blue also won its premiership, in a hard-fought win, scoring 45-28.

Carawas IJ Green were runners-up, losing by only four goals.

They have shown great improvement from the start of the season.

Aquila IJ White was pushed up a grade, but still made the grand final, going down to a tough opponent by six goals.

Flyers Junior Blue made the grand final after beating a team in the finals they had never won against.

However, they were defeated in the grand final.

Bowls club re-elects president and secretary

Umina Beach Men's Bowling Club has re-elected Mr Tom Burgmann as president and Mr Peter Springett as secretary.

Mr Colin Mew has agreed to stay on as treasurer until the end of the year while he trains someone else, Mr Springett said.

The annual meeting was held on Sunday, August 28, attended by 54 members who elected the office-bearers and committee members.

"Jim Phillips will train Lee Cribbs on how to update the web site," said Mr Springett.

"Martin O'Malley takes over as vice-president.

"Lee Cribbs was voted in as Chairman of Match.

"Robin Hill was appointed committeeman.

"Rex A E Hunt and Fred Hawksworth continue with the important welfare sub-committee.

"Steve Stead continues with the bowls secretary and match committee roles.

"Brian Moroney and Geoff Godwin continue with the umpire's sub-committee.

"Tom Burgmann and Gary Jones continue with the coaches sub-committee.

"Allan Rhodes takes over as assistant bowls secretary.

"Lee Cribbs, Steve Stead and Joel Austin are the new selectors.

"Ian Jarratt has agreed to continue with his sponsorship role.

"Ken Robertson will continue with the social committee role.

"Jim Phillips will hand over the web master role to Lee Cribbs, but will help with the honour board updates and flyers.

"Ron Austin will continue with the locker maintenance role.

"I'll continue with the secretary, publicity, social media and delegate roles ... with much-needed help from others," said Mr Springett.
